

Creating natural environments

MARTIN LEONARD GILBERT
Landscape Architect – Creative Designer

Martin has over 25 years Design Director consultancy experience including 5 years as Director of Master Planning for a Resort, Residential Golf and Marina Development Company. He is experienced in landscape design, urban design, landscape planning, landscape engineering and project development.

He has undertaken projects in most of the climatic zones of the world from desert to tropical maritime and has a wealth of practical horticultural knowledge associated with these areas. Living and working in Europe, Middle East, North and Southern Africa, South East Asia, China and Oceania, Martin has been involved and led teams in a variety of developments from boutique scale to mega sized projects including national scale planning studies.

Projects vary from eco-sensitive, culturally important, themed attractions and iconic architecturally driven futuristic mixed-use developments. His project experience covers land remediation, reclamation, road, rail and airport infrastructure, extractive industries, commercial, retail, mixed-use, resort, residential, casinos, ecotourism, parks, public realm, themed destinations, golf, marina, artificial islands, atria, wildlife conservation, community consultation and planning/environmental planning approval/appeals.

Martin believes that creating successful projects requires imagination, energy, practical experience and commercial understanding, using a leadership and team approach. He continues to seek exciting design challenges and with the desire to deliver innovative solutions to his clients' specific needs within time and within budget.
